A REPUBLICAN SOLD OUT.

How S. H. Buchanan, a Life Long Republican, Was Shoved Aside.

The greed of the populist wing of the fusion combine in the Third congressional district, has resulted in a condition that is likely to result in disaster to the fusion candidate, Mr. John E. Fowler.

Ston H. Buchanan, of Jonesboro, a life long republican who expected to receive the nomination for congress, at Fayetteville, the 29th inst., on the Republican ticket, makes the public announcement that he will not support Fowler, but will vote for Thomas. He claims that Fowler promised him two years ago, if he would give him a clear course at that time, he, Fowler, would not ask for the place two years hence. Mr. Buchanan went to Fayetteville with a majority pledged to him. He says a special delivery letter from Raleigh notified him that the committee had decided for Fowler, and that he must stand aside for harmony. And even then Fowler only succeeded by using boodles. Buch. is surely mad and it is to his credit. He means to fight Fowler.

"Home Sweet Home."

The loving hubby who beat his wife a few days ago, read a little piece in the Telegram about his wife intending to take out a warrant for him and proceeded to make it even more warm for her than ever. The wife seeing that living in peace with her better half was an utter impossibility decided to move to Danville. To this the hubby caught on and refused to let her have her trunk. She was at "Squire Pritchett's" office again this morning seeking advice about how to get her trunk. "Squire" informed her that he was not much of a lawyer, but he could give the old fellow justice if she would bring him up before him.

Back From the Klondike.

Mr. J. D. Thagard, a North Carolinian who had just returned from the Klondike, passed through Raleigh yesterday.

Mr. Thagard is a brother-in-law of Mr. W. C. Petty. He has just returned from Dawson City, and was on his way to his old home in Manly yesterday.

With him Mr. Thagard had evidences of the richness of the Klondike. He exhibited several pieces of gold ore and bullion which he brought back with him from the gold fields. Mr. Thagard has been at Dawson City for two years. He has on foot now a project which he expects will yield him a big fortune.—Morning Post.

Slot Machine Telegraph.

T. J. McAdoo, owner of the Telephone Exchange, has placed the up-to-date "phone in the McAdoo House we have ever seen. It is a combination telephone and slot machine. Any one wishing to talk on the 'phone drops in a nickel, dime or quarter, according to the length of time. Twenty-five cents is for long distance, however. When a quarter is dropped the 'phone clicks three times; if a dime, twice, and a nickel, once, so that Central knows just how much money is dropped and how long to let you talk. It's a hummer.

A Tip to Senator Butler.

The Kinston "Free Press" gives the following, the truth of which has been suspected for some time: "We have been informed that Mr. Frank Brown, member of the last Legislature from Jones county, told certain parties of prominence and intelligence that Dr. Thompson secretly abetted the election of Pritchard to the U. S. Senate, to the end that Pritchard would do a like favor for Thompson to succeed Senator Marion Butler in 1900. We get this pretty straight and if it is denied we will furnish proofs. Yet Thompson pretended to be honest and opposed to the election of goldbug Pritchard. All the big populist and republican bosses in this state are tarred with the same stick."

They Are Beauties.

We call your attention to the opening display of the Sample Brown Co. for tomorrow and Monday. The two front windows are pageants of beauty in their gorgeous and elaborate decorations. The taste displayed by the artist who dressed those windows would do credit to any city in the land. The arrangements inside are attractive and a marvelous variety of rich colors, tints and designs are shown.

Let every democratic voter see that his name is properly placed on the registration books. Don't neglect the matter of getting a transfer if you have moved since the last election. Tomorrow is registration day between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. Attend to this important matter tomorrow.

INDIAN SITUATION GRAVER.

Signs of Disturbance Among Agency Indians.

KILLING OF INDIAN POLICEMAN.

Confirmation of the Reports that the Red Skins Are Concentrating from Other Reservations.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Walker, Minn., Oct. 7.—The Indian situation is graver than ever today. There are signs of disturbance among the agency Indians here owing to the killing of the Indian policeman by the United States troops.

Confirmation is coming hourly of the concentration of Indians from the other reservations with pillagers who are threatening General Bacon's command.

GENERAL BACON SAFE.

Washington, Oct. 7.—War Department advices today say that General Bacon is safe and uninjured. The Governor of Minnesota has asked for additional troops, but no action has yet been taken, and it is believed that the alarm is unwarranted. The Minnesota volunteers, who are at home on furlough have been given permission to fight the Indians.

DESLUTORY FIRING.

Walker, Minn., Oct. 7.—General Bacon fought the Indians all night, it is presumed, as deslutory firing was heard. It is believed the Indians have gone further inland.

KILLED THE OLD MAN.

Then Hurried On With the Girl and Was Married.

St. Louis, Oct. 6.—A special to The Republic from Pine Bluff, Ark., says: In Saline county yesterday, Joe McKinney, a young farmer, accompanied by his brother and a friend, eloped with the daughter of Charles Taylor, another farmer. The wedding party took a wagon and started for Redfield. When within five miles of there, Taylor overtook the party and opened fire with a gun. McKinney returned the fire with a revolver, killing Taylor. The body was left lying in the road while the party drove on to Redfield, where the elopers were married. After the ceremony the four surrendered themselves to the police. McKinney rented a farm from Taylor.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Surgeon General Sternberg has sent the war investigators a report in answer to questions and states the medical force allowed is not adequate even in times of peace. The sudden draft of the contract for surgeons made it impossible to make a careful selection.

NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News From Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU. HIGH POINT, N. C., Oct. 7, '98.

An attempt was made to wreck the Asheville train by piling cross ties on the track yesterday near Sophia.

Don't fail to hear Bob Glenn on the political issues tonight at the opera house. Ladies are especially invited.

Frank Brown and Claude Barbee, of the First N. C. regiment say that they could beat Col. Bryan's poll by at least fifteen per cent.

Thar now! Major Wadlington came near having a scrap this morning. What a pity that Major did not get to show his grit before he left.

Miss Leslie Pleasants, of Asheville, who has been spending a few days with her sister Mrs. O. N. Richardson left on the noon train for Greensboro.

C. H. Hoover and Geo. Hilliard, of Asheville, passed through today enroute to Washington.

W. F. Brown, the Cuban reconcentrado, left this morning for Statesville to see his brother, W. C. Brown of that place.

Mrs. E. A. Bencini and children left this morning for Concord to visit friends and relatives.

Will Pickard, of Randleman, spent last night in the city and returned this morning.

W. A. Hall, of Greensboro, was in the city today.

Quartermaster Cyrus Wheeler, of Company D, Second regiment returned yesterday to spend a thirty day furlough at home.

Ex-sheriff R. R. Ross, of Asheville, spent last night in the city.

A prominent real estate owner recently opened a side walk on a street that was seldom used, and now he has been notified to fix up his side walk. We think there are many other side walks inside of the city limits that are used every day that need fixing up much worse than this one.

One of those so-called squedunk whistles, like the one we had reference to yesterday, was recently put up in Winston, and, of course, disturbed everybody to such an extent that it was knocked into smithereens with Smithfield rifles by some men who lived near by. If the town authorities will not look after a nuisance like this we believe the people should.

The main attraction in town today is Prof. J. J. Rogers' strength testing machine.

If "Little Cy" Wheeler, of the Second regiment could borrow "Uncle Bob" Bell's whiskers and make a charge down Main street, as he usually does on his thoroughbred, we would think "Fighting Joe" had struck the town.

Cards announcing the marriage of Miss Maggie Bonner, of Mt. Airy to Mr. Claude Beard, of the C. F. & Y. V. road, October 18th, were received here yesterday. Miss Bonner, it will be remembered, spent the summer here last year, with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Bonner, and has many friends here.

Miss Vallie Brown, of Concord, who has been spending several weeks with her sister, Mrs. Castor, returned home last night. She made friends here who regret to part with her.

SOME STARTLING RUMORS.

The Paris Peace Commissioners Can't Agree.

STRIKERS BECOMING RIOTOUS.

Work on Underground Railway Suspended—Labor Strikes Extended to Nearly All Building Trades.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

Paris, Oct. 7.—The American and Spanish peace commissioners met in joint session today. There are many startling rumors abroad to the effect that the commissioners cannot agree on the question of adjusting the Philippine dilemma.

Judge Day telegraphed to Washington that negotiations are on the verge of being broken off, and was answered to stand squarely by the demands of the Washington government; that is, to nothing short of the whole of Luzon.

Paris, Oct. 7.—The American commissioners this morning considered correspondence and sought to perfect the position of the Americans in relation to the alternations and contingent attitudes or propositions which the Spanish are expected to make this afternoon. The substance of the presentment is not disclosed.

STRIKERS BECOMING RIOTOUS.

Paris, Oct. 7.—The strike among laborers has extended to nearly all the building trades, and it is feared the railroads will join the movement. Work on the underground railroad has been suspended. The strikers are becoming riotous.

Later—Troops and the Paris police have been called out to stop the rioting strikers.

PLANNED A GENERAL MASSACRE

Why the Indians Did Not Fire on the Men Searching the Timber.

Walker, Minn., Oct. 6.—Indian Agent Sutherland, who was with General Bacon at Sugar Point, gives the following account of the conflict up to the time of his leaving for supplies: "When the arrest of the two fugitives had been accomplished, the Indians, with a profession of friendship, showed the soldiers their tepees and called attention to their neatness, and all the time stating that they were good Indians. General Bacon, who has great experience with the Sioux and other savages did not take much stock in these professions of friendship and ordered a party of his company to search the adjoining timber for any lurking savages, but none was to be seen. The Indians must have been hidden in the thick underbrush, and those unaccustomed to searching timber could easily have been deceived, for it was not 10 minutes after this before the firing had commenced. Had the Indians not contemplated a general massacre they would have fired on the men who were searching the timber.

"These Pillagers are well armed and are good marksmen, therefore it is easy to see where they had the advantage of the situation at the start. If our men are not killed, it is surmised that they have gone some distance in the woods, where they would be safe from a night attack from another band of Indians who could have come upon them from the lake shore. If it is true that the Cass Lake Indians have gone to assist the Bear Island Indians, the retreat of General Bacon into the interior can be understood."

Destructive Fire.

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM. Manchester, Eng., Oct. 7.—A London correspondent of the Couriers says that long messages of instruction have been telephoned by the foreign office to Sir Edmund Monson, the British ambassador. There is no doubt but that relations between France and England are greatly strained.

GOODS IN THE STREETS.

We have been under the impression that there was an ordinance on the books in this city against the practice of piling goods and boxes on the sidewalks. If there is, would it not be a good idea to have it enforced? If there is not such an ordinance there should be. It would be a great help to the merchants.

There are a number of them who oppose and dislike the practice. It causes an enormous amount of work and often results in getting goods damaged by dust and filth of every kind from the streets, which covers them when there is a breeze.

But as long as one man puts his goods out the other men in the same business will put theirs out also in order to have an equal show in making a display. If all merchants were required to keep their goods inside their stores no man would have an advantage over another, and it would save them all much labor in carrying out and arranging goods in the morning and bringing them in again at night. Besides, the goods could be kept much nicer and buyers would be better pleased.

But there is still another side to it. Very often, in some places, more than half the sidewalk is covered with fruit and vegetable stands, baskets of potatoes, coops of chickens, etc., greatly to the annoyance and inconvenience of pedestrians, whose rights must be considered. The primary object of sidewalks is to have a decent place to walk without the danger of being run down by vehicles, and it is not right for merchants to force people off into the streets by their goods and the crowds gathered about them.

At least that is our view of the matter. Other well regulated cities prohibit this practice, and the merchants like it. They are able to keep first-class, clean goods with much less trouble and labor. We are fast approaching the dimensions of a city, not only in size, but in hurry, and rush and bustle, and many people become annoyed when they begin to stumble over the wares of some well-meaning merchant who, in self-defense, has placed his goods on the sidewalk that they may be seen alongside of his neighbor's.

We believe the wide awake and hustling merchant will agree with us that if all goods could be kept in the house, displayed and sold there it would be better for all concerned. Take the case, gentlemen.

Mr. R. M. Phillips, who has for some time edited the Greensboro Telegram with conspicuous ability, displaying highly creditable journalistic resources, has leased the property and assumed entire control. The Telegram has developed into one of the best and most useful of our state papers, and Mr. Phillips, in his new responsibility has our best wishes for continued growth.—Raleigh Morning Post.

We feel sure our readers will pardon our seeming egotism in publishing the above. Coming from one of the best and most ably edited morning papers in the state, we highly appreciate it, and beg to say to Editor Furman that the admiration is mutual.

In a bit of pleasantry about Charlotte yesterday we wrote "Charlotte is a dandy, a hummer," and the reckless types made us say "a humor." Of course the term was absolutely senseless and we felt chagrined over it to the extent that we make this explanation.

From yesterday's Morning Post we copy an eminently sensible and timely article from the pen of Editor Furman, on the subject "Let the Rich Give." It is good and wholesome reading, and we call your attention to it.

LET THE RICH GIVE.

Princely Sums Given to Various Institutions.

Religious and educational institutions, from the earliest ages have asked for and received donations for their establishment and support. Appeals have been made to all to give according as Providence has prospered them in this world's accumulations. Each was expected to give "according to his ability," the rich much, the more moderately circumstanced, less. Northern colleges are flourishing as the result of rich benefactions from those who have been successful in business. In the south, having but few comparatively wealthy men, gifts to our colleges have been few and correspondingly small in amount. The Vanderbilt family established and richly endowed the Vanderbilt University at Nashville, the only notable event of a single institution in the south receiving such support as to place it high up among the endowed colleges of the country.

Church organizations of the north have established most useful institutions in the south, and large sums have been given by a few rich philanthropists in aid of schools, for both races. The Rockefeller have given princely sums to the Chicago University, and generously to others, some small amounts coming to Southern institutions.

A New York city college has just had a debt of over $100,000 paid off by voluntary gifts and endowment of $100,000 added. Among those who contributed to this good purpose are Messrs. John D. Rockefeller, Pierpont Morgan, Abram S. Hewitt, Mrs. A. A. Anderson, Mrs. W. S. Saloman, Joseph H. Choate, John F. Dillon, Mrs. Josiah M. Fiske. This act of these rich people, without whose aid the colleges would have been closed, is hailed with great and proper praise by the people. It will be seen, too, that members of different churches are among the contributors. It was evidently a gracious act, for a noble purpose—if the education of youth is a noble purpose—by men and women who were able to give.

Only in one instance in the south has a college been the beneficiary of a large amount from southern men, that is an amount to enable the college to maintain itself and continue in its glorious work of educating the youths of the section. That college is Trinity, situated in Durham, in our own state. These benefactors are citizens of the same town and state, and members of the church of which the college is an institution of honored memories and splendid achievements. These gentlemen have become wealthy in their business enterprises, and of their wealth, like others of other sections have been moved to give in such directions as will best contribute to the preparation of young men and women for the duties as well as the conflicts of this life, and the better prepare them for the life to come. Only wealthy people can make such gifts. Wealthy people are constantly begged and beseeched to make them, and when they fail or refuse are held up as hoarders of wealth and misers, unkind of the commands to help the poor, give to the needy, to "love thy neighbor as thyself." These men have made their wealth on tobacco and its manufacture, just as others have on cotton and its manufacture, in speculation in other commodities or speculating in dry goods, or in charging big fees for legal services. Having it, in this particular instance by the voluntary acts of the public—for every cent made in tobacco is the voluntary act of the man who uses tobacco—these gentlemen, desirous of aiding such institutions as will be most far reaching in their good works, have given largely to Trinity and generously to other schools and colleges, of different denominations, within the state. And, strange to say, these particular benefactors, and this particular college, have been jumped upon by certain parties with not only opposition, but abuse, and slander. Instead of rejoicing at the aid given an institution which will enlarge its abilities and opportunities to reach and teach the rising youth of our state, instead of welcoming every aid, from whatever source—the evil-minded may be depended upon to do nothing to help better the world—to blot from the record the shameful statistics of illiteracy said to be peculiar to our state—the first large movement to correct this is met with an onslaught that would do discredit to slum politics. The motives of the benefactors, the methods of the institution are maligned, while the great church is pilloried for accepting and putting to good use the means thus willingly and unselfishly placed at its disposal.

The whole onslaught is wickedly malicious, actuated by various motives more or less sinister or selfish, but none the less to be condemned. We wish from our heart today that we could chronicle the gifts from those abundantly able to give of sums sufficient to throw open the doors to free admission, of Trinity, Davidson, Wake Forest, Chapel Hill, Greensboro colleges, St. Mary's, Peace, and every college in the state. Heaven knows there is material enough at hand for these and many more, but the lack of means of the people, and dependence of the institutions continue matters as they are. Yes, let the Dukes and the Wats and the Carrs, who have made and make their wealth from tobacco; the Rockefeller, who make theirs from oil; the Morgans, who reap theirs from railroads, and Lawyers who, when they do not lose in gambling (?) in railroad stocks, make it in good fees when they can get them, any one who realizes from labors in any recognized and legalized business endeavor, give to our colleges of their substance, and thus help drive away the black cloud of ignorance and its coincidences from our dear old State.—Morning Post.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store. Regular size 50c and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Ticket Scalpers.

The sentencing yesterday at May's Landing, N. J., of Stephen Murray, of Atlantic City, for scalping railroad tickets, is another instance of the in-exorableness of Jersey justice, and the futility of hoping to tamper with railroad tickets with impunity.

On the evening of August 5th Murray was arrested in Atlantic City for scalping Pennsylvania and other railroad tickets. He pleaded "not guilty," but was committed to jail in default of $800 bail. He was brought into court yesterday morning under four distinct indictments, and unexpectedly pleaded guilty under all. He was sentenced under one indictment to imprisonment for sixty days from the date of his incarceration and to pay a fine of $20 and cost. He also promised to leave the state and held over his head as future insurance of good conduct.

The prosecution of this case was founded on information furnished by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.
This company has been instrumental in bringing other violators of the ticket scalping law to justice, owing to the deception practiced on their patrons and the annoyance and inconvenience which they are consequently put to.

The practice of scalping railroad tickets is a nefarious one, and it is to be hoped that the Pennsylvania railroad will continue its good work until the insidious and palpable evil is entirely eradicated.—Philadelphia Record, Sept. 24th.

One Minute Cough Cure surprises people by its quick cures and children may take it in large quantities without the least danger. It has won for itself the best reputation of any preparation used today for colds, croup, tickling in the throat or obstinate coughs. Howard Gardner.

Three Doctors in Consultation.

From Benjamin Franklin.

"When you are sick, what you like best is to be chosen for a medicine in the first place;
what experience tells you is best, to be chosen in the second place; what reason (i. e. Theory) says is best is to be chosen in the last place.
But if you can get Dr. Inclinon, Dr. Experience and Dr. Reason to hold a consultation together, they will give you the best advice that can be taken."

When you have a bad cold Dr. In-clinon would recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy because it is pleasant and safe to take. Dr. Experience would recommend it because it never fails to effect a speedy and permanent cure. Dr. Reason would recommend it because it is prepared on scientific principles, and acts on nature's plan in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions and restoring the system to a natural and healthy condition. For sale by C. E. Holton.

NEARLY 65,000 MAJORITY

The Populists Almost Completely

Wiped Out in Georgia.

Atlanta, Oct. 6.—Returns from the State elections show that the Democrats have carried the State by nearly 65-000 majority. Several counties in the State that have been in control of the populists gave democratic candidates majorities. The entire democratic ticket for governor and state house officers was elected and returns show that the populists have less than a dozen members in the legislature.

Lindau, the grocer, in his ad today says to his patrons and the public that after October 15th he will adopt the cash system in his business and that prices will be from 10 to 15 per cent lower as a result.

East Market street which has been torn up for some time, being graded, sewer pipe being put in and under going all kinds of improvements, is now assuming an air of respectability though it will yet be some time before the work will be completed. When the work is finished East Market will be one of the best graded streets in the city.

A man from the "State of Wilkes" arrived in the city late yesterday afternoon with a saddle bag stuffed (presumably) with "grub" thrown over his shoulder and came up South Elm at a lively pace. He had walked all the way from Wilkes and except that he was badly bespattered with mud looked little the worse for his trip. He came as a witness to Federal court. A great old state is Wilkes.

At The Academy of Music.

The following is from the Wilmington, N. C., Star, referring to the second performance by the Lillian Tucker Company in that city two weeks ago:

The Lillian Tucker Company gave their second presentation at the opera house last night, and won the glorious laurels as the evening previous. The old, old play, "Lady Audley's Secret," was produced, and it was received with the same high favor that will be accorded it when performed properly, as it was last night. The sweet, but very dramatic plot of the piece is to well known to theatre-goers and readers to need reiteration.

Miss Lillian Tucker portrayed the character of Lady Audley and did it tersely. Her conception of the part was par excellence and her rendition unparalleled.

Mr. Chas. C. Vaught, as Luke Marks gave us a finished piece of acting, which the audience recognized and evinced by lavish applause.

In fact, all the players were well up in their respective roles and deserve high merited commendation. They were Misses Dorothy Walcott and Eunice Goodrich and Messrs. Thaddeus Gray, J. Francis Kirke and Joseph H. Thayer.

The specialties of little Theodora received numerous encores. The dancing of Miss Goodrich still continues to be a feature, and a big one. Last night the flags of the different nations were thrown by powerful electric rays upon her magnificent flowing gown. "Old Glory," the English and Japanese flags were received with wild applause, but the flag of Spain was hissed and was the recipient of cheers of derision. An innovation was a number of pictures by the projectoscope, which were terse.

This company opens the season at the Academy of Music next Monday night with the laughable comedy, "The Buckeye." One lady will be admitted free with each 30-cent paid ticket that night. Seats now on sale at Gardner's drug store.

Quick Work.

Sergeant Baker and Officer Pitts did some quick work last night. When the last through south-bound freight got to Concord everything was intact. When it was pulling out it was discovered that one of the cars had been broken into and some clothing, soap and other goods stolen. The officers here were notified. In a half-hour's time the two above-named officers had apprehended their man near the overhead bridge on Graham street, and had him in tow. The man was a negro by the name of Alex. Taggart. When arrested he had on seven suits of clothes.—Charlotte Observer.

We want each and every one of our friends and patrons to consider themselves personally invited to attend our GRAND FALL OPENING. SATURDAY AND MONDAY, Oct. 8th and 10th. Our preparations have been extraordinary and we want you to enjoy the fruit of our labor, time and enterprise. All departments will appeal to you items of special interest, whose "OPENING" prices will make your coming worth while.
